

Traditional Beauty Meets Modern Architecture

Have you ever marveled at the beautiful glistening plaster walls of Italy? The ancient polished plaster commonly referred to as "Venetian plaster" has been a decorative wall finish throughout Italy for centuries. You no longer need to travel to Europe to admire an authentic piece of Italian history. Vero Venetian plaster has caught the attention of distinguished interior designers and architects across America. Vero opened its doors in 2001 and has since established itself for its genuine seasoned slaked lime consisting of fine Carrara marble aggregate for both interior and exterior application. Vero's most popular product, Antiqua, can create either a smooth, suede-like effect or a more mottled and rough form. Vero also offers a wide range of captivating resin
