Susan VerBurg, who is the CEO of Merlex Stucco, is also the proud owner of Vero, distributor of Rialto authentic Italian plaster for both interior as well as exterior wall finishes located in the city of Orange, Calif. Imported from Trieste, Italy, Rialto finishes combine traditional methods and natural materials with modern technology. This marriage results in wall finishes that yield unparalleled beauty and excellent stability while remaining true to their heritage. It is that truth, which happens to be the meaning for the Italian word Vero, that shows throughout its finishes. Vero offers over 400 stock colors in addition to matching any custom color of your choice. Vero is proud to be the only distributor on the West Coast of Rialto seasoned slaked lime and resin-based finishes. We are dedicated to the quality and green environmental standards that allow us to make authentic Italian finish a reality.

Vero has completed several residential and commercial projects all over the state, in addition to completing projects throughout the nation. Just recently, we completed one of the most extensive residential projects to date. We are so proud of donating our time and product to a wonderful family featured on the primetime television show, Extreme Makeover-Home

Edition, which aired in May. Our contribution was an experience we were so thrilled to be a part of and one we will never forget. After only three years in business, Vero has accomplished so much in such a short amount of time thanks to the Vero family's hard work and dedication. Rialto and Vero may produce and distribute the plaster but it is in the artisan's hand that creates the masterpiece and brings it alive for the eye to see.
